UNIVERSITY SPORTS.

L. V. PELLEW THE CHAMPION.

The annual sports gathering of the Adelaide University students, which was held on Friday, provided a triumphal procession for L. V. Pellew, one of the best all-round athletes the colleges or University has seen. Not only did he repeat his last year's preponderance of winning the cup—which his brother secured in 1914—but he also captured easily the 100 Yards Flat Race, which carries with it the University Championship. In none of the races in which he ran was he pushed, and it was with ease that he was on every occasion first past the tape. His times were good, namely, 100 yards, 10.2-3 sec.; 220 yards, 23 sec.; 120 yards hurdles, 17 sec. The Quarter-mile Race was looked upon as—and was—such a certainty that the champion's competitors never made the pace, and the time was not worth taking. The scoring in the cup competition was:—L. V. Pellew, 22 points; A. H. White, 15 points; H. W. Florey, 12 points; A. C. Weston, 10 points. One of the most delightful events was the pole vault, which was won by E. J. Harbison, one of the most graceful and artistic vaulters ever seen. His method is perfect, and he had no difficulty in winning by several inches with an 8 ft. 11 in. vault, which the athlete could have improved on considerably had he cared to go on. J. W. Chapman secured the treble event. He is a powerful man, and took the high jump with a 5 ft. 5 in. leap, threw the hammer 78 ft. 9 in., and put the shot 30 ft. 3 in. The Inter-schools' Flat Race for the silver cup was competed for by the Law, Dental, Engineering, and Science Schools, and mainly through the magnificent lead given by L. V. Pellew in the first hundred yards, the Law School scored a comparatively easy win. L. M. S. Hargrave, a lightweight, won the long jump with a 20-ft. spring.

The day was perfect for a sports gathering, and the ground was in excellent order. All the arrangements were good; no time was wasted between the events, and the very large attendance spent a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon. Tea was served in the boathouse, and, at the conclusion of the meeting, the prizes were distributed by His Excellency the Governor, for whom hearty cheers were given before the gathering dispersed.

Officials—Patron, His Excellency the Governor; Vice-Patron, Sir George Murray; Stewards, Profs. Wood Jones, Henderson, Brailsford Robertson, and Cleland, Drs. F. Steele Scott, F. S. Hone, and R. THE W.E.A.

HAS IT "GONE RED"

CHARGE AND DISCLAIMER.

The Workers' Education Association, founded some years ago under the Education Department, has been subject to criticism on various occasions, and the latest charge against it is that it displays "red" tendencies. Mr. James W. Edden, of 110 Carlyle street, Ashfield, Sydney, forwards a letter to the "Sun," in the course of which he states:—

The "Reds" of the Domain have been overwhelmed; but what about the fully developed and half-developed "Reds" that are emerging from those so-called respectable educational colleges, such as the Workers' Education Association?

Some of the most militant "Reds" and full-blooded revolutionists are attending the various tutorial classes. Only a few weeks ago, at the annual W.T.A. Conference, the public had a clear demonstration of their ideals, when Rev. Dr. O'Reilly spoke and the vast audience applauded him. The red flag to my knowledge has been unfurled on two occasions at social gatherings in their clubrooms in Hunter street. It was because of their blatant disloyalty that I was unable to remain a member of such an organisation. I would like to see a watchful eye kept on this movement lest it develops into an incubator for red-raggers.

Mr. David Stewart, of the W.E.A., replying to statements made in the letter, says:—

"In regard to the first charge to the effect that large numbers of 'Reds' belong to the associations, I hope it is true because we are trying to get all shades of opinion among our classes. The 'Reds' are just as welcome, so long as they come as students, as any others."

"The charge that the Red Flag has been unfurled at meetings is not correct. It is probably true that revolutionary songs have been sung at social functions, for members and students are accustomed to singing all sorts of songs. So far as Dr. O'Reilly's speech is concerned, the following reference was made to it in our monthly journal, the "Australian Highway," of May 1:—

"Rev. Mr. O'Reilly, in an interesting address, gave us the outlines of some of his social and economic faith, particularly with reference to the unemployed problem. The speech, which was an able one, would, under different circumstances, have served as an excellent introduction to a discussion, but it was difficult to see its connection with education, and with the problems which might be supposed to be connected with the association's work." (Pages 2 and 3).

"One of the surest proofs of the non-partisan attitude of the association," continued Mr. Stewart, "is the fact that we are abused by extremists of both sides. There are many of the so-called 'Reds' who accuse us of being merely the tools of the capitalists. We claim to be neither, but merely an educational body seeking to achieve a higher standard of education among the working classes generally."

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The construction of the new medical school at the Adelaide University, which at the outset was delayed through various causes, is now well advanced, and if there are no further hitches the building should be ready for occupation at the end of the year. The new structure, in addition to a theatre, which will be built on to the main block, will greatly relieve the congestion in the various departments of the University. There has been a general increase in all classes. The medical course is particularly popular with students, and each year brings big contingents of aspirants to the profession. During the war, owing to the modification of the regulations governing medical students, it was suggested that there was a likelihood of the profession becoming overcrowded. "There will always be plenty of work for good doctors to do," remarked an authority on Thursday.
