

15th February, 1957.

Dear Anthony,

Yes, I should much like to see something closer at hand than I have so far of your work with the human serum proteins.

I am glad you ^{suggest} ~~find~~ a set of four linked genes with probable counter-selection and rare recombination, though I cannot hope that you will have the blessing of a Wiener to advertise the advantages of such a simple concept for the next twelve years. This gratuitous service has been performed, so far as I can judge, exclusively at the expense of his own reputation.

Sincerely yours,