

16th December, 1950.

My dear Luca,

A little while ago I received the enclosed edition from Dover Publications, and though they have designed a cover which disguises its real nature rather completely, I think you might like to have a copy, if only to see the occasional additions I have made, such as the last paragraph, page 21, on mutants.

With all respectful greetings to Albarría and the family,

Sincerely yours,

I understand that I can stop off briefly in Milan, Rome and Calcutta all on the way to Sydney, without extra air-passages charge

Dr. L. L. Cavalli-Sforza.
