

27th August, 1952.

My dear Cyril,

I am sending you a short paper for Heredity on the linkage of polydactyly and leaden, which I hope may be sufficiently explicit evidence to check the rubbish put about by Edinberg and some of his friends to the effect that polydactyly exists only in my imagination. As I say at the end, I propose, perhaps within the year, to put in some rather heavier material on the other factors in this linkage group. I should be glad to see this note published as soon as it conveniently can be.

Sincerely yours,
