Sir Ronald Fisher
Whittingehame Lodge
Cambridge, England

Dear Sir Ronald:

Would you be interested in a proposal from us for the republication of your work, THE GENETICAL THEORY OF NATURAL SELECTION? We should like to publish a new edition of this work as part of our program for the republication of older and useful works in the history and philosophy of science. We usually pay several hundred dollars for this privilege.

As far as I can ascertain the book has been out of print for a number of years. Under these conditions, I imagine that rights have reverted to you, or would revert to you upon request.

The problem of copyrights and permissions from previous publishers can probably be clarified. More important than such technical problems is your own opinion of the advisability of republishing the work. There seems to be a continuing demand, but we should not want to republish the work unless some useful purpose were served by doing so.

I am enclosing our general catalog and our check list of scientific books. This will give you some idea of our editorial approach in making selections.

I look forward to receiving your frank thoughts on this general proposal, and I should be very glad to send you a concrete proposal.

Very truly yours,
