

DEPARTMENT OF
ZOOLOGY AND COMPARATIVE ANATOMY.
UNIVERSITY MUSEUM, OXFORD.February 18th 1943.

My dear Ron,

Thank you so much for your kind letter.
I am quite all right again now, and was so sorry to miss the meeting; but no one could possibly have gone to London in the state I was in.

I am very glad indeed to learn that Lawrence is willing to act as Secretary, and that no objection is taken at Menton to his doing so. Indeed I cannot imagine why there should be: but at an earlier stage I got the impression that the others there were not so very keen. However, that is all right - not evidently, and I shall be delighted to act with him. I will send a line to say so, and ask support from other appropriate members of Committee.

All seems going much better at the Hospital. The mother's blood is going to be started on a large scale, and they are attending somewhat their routine for our benefit - a marvellous thing in a Hospital! Also the numbers for the cord-blood are much improving. Ever yours,

Henry
