

January 8th, 1936

Dear Ford,

I am enclosing a copy, I am afraid a very bad one, of my paper on Mendel, and should be most grateful for any suggestions you care to make before it is finally published. I shall have to check all the χ^2 values carefully, and the probabilities I have noted are entirely provisional approximations, but I do not expect any substantial change. I am not sure whether or not I ought also to write to "nature".

Yours sincerely,