

29 October 1934.

Dear Ford,

Many thanks for your letter. The suppressor of red pigment which acts as an analyser for the malanin rate factors sounds rather exciting. I am sending you herewith a paper I have written for the Royal, with a few photographs relevant thereto. I wanted you to see it partly as news of how the chicks had been going on and partly because I make an ascertainment about Gammerus which may be too vague or not accurate, and which, in any case, I should like you to see before I send it in.

Yours sincerely,