

November 8th 1954.

My dear Ron,

Your letter of congratulation on the Darwin Medal is a thing that I shall always treasure. I want you to realize, what in part I think you know, that your help and encouragement has been the great stimulus to me in science (just as your friendship has been a joy in life). Any small success I have had is due pre-eminently to you, so that your approval is very precious to me.

Yours always,
Henry