

June 6th 1958.

My dear Ron,

I send you herewith a draft on the basis of what I propose to say for the B.B.C. broadcast in which we are both taking part.

I should so much value any points you feel inclined to raise about it. Of course I shall not stick closely to the script while, even so, you will appreciate that the wording is more adjusted to speaking than would be the case were this for a written paper.

My election as the first scientific Fellow of All Souls is to be announced in the middle of this month. I believe, my very dear Ron, you gave me your support in this matter:
and I realize so fully how important that support has been. Words of Thanks do not seem very much: you will just know that my Thanks are in my heart. I think of innumerable acts of help and kindness that-I have received from you extending back for more than a generation. Be sure that I so often remember them and shall add this occasion to them. Thank you, dear Ron, for your help.

Yours affectionately,
Henry
