

June 29, 1951

My dear Professor Gini:

I much regret to have to write that I shall have to miss the population meeting in Rome, as I must return to England for a surgical operation as soon as my duties in America are finished.

I wish the Rome meeting all success, and think that I can say from what I have heard that a considerable section both in England and in America feel strongly with you as regards the future of the union.

Yours sincerely,