

January 20, 1940

Dear Haldane,

At first sight I should guess there was not any very easy small sample solution to your problem, but if you care to send me any of the data, I should probably find time to think about it. On the other hand, I have no doubt that, for practical purposes, the large sample χ^2 method with efficient estimation, will give the right answer.

Your new case of partial sex linkage sounds exciting.

Yours sincerely,