

20th. October 1950.

My dear Lerner,

I was very glad to receive this morning your paper on "Attenuation of Genetic Progress under Continued Selection in Poultry" submitted for publication in Heredity.

I do think what you have been doing during the last ten years or more is of first class importance in elucidating the biometric situation in your own case and pointing the way to ~~the~~ elucidation in other cases on the basis of your experience.

Letter from Lerner with corrections to paper forwarded to Lerner 11/11.

The matter is, as you know, of great interest to me personally, and I am, of course, sending it in to my colleague Dr. Darlington, recommending publication without delay.

Yours sincerely,
