

15th March, 1951.

My dear Rob,

I am sending your typescript back with a few pencil scribbles, which, of course, should be deleted if they do not meet your feelings.

I think you might like a reminder that if Grubb is right, probably twelve out of twenty-four chromosomes are now marked.

Looking forward to seeing you both on Friday evening.

Yours sincerely,