27th July, 1953.

Dear Dr. Dantzig,

I am returning your draft proposal for statistical definitions and terminology with a few annotations as to English usage, and the general reservation that it seems to fall between two desirable aims - a) a specialists dictionary or glossary, recording current usage, and b) a systematic restatement of the logical relationships of modern statistical theory. Of course, the latter would be too ambitious a task to attempt.

Sincerely yours,