Dear Dr. von Bonin:

In the rush of travelling I forget whether I have written to you fixing a date for meeting you in Chicago as I have hoped to do. I am now writing to say that I shall be in Chicago on Saturday, June 27 visiting Sewall Wright, also of the University of Chicago. I could quite probably arrive in Chicago on the night of Friday, June 26 and shall in any case return on the following Sunday. I hope during this week end it may be possible for me to see both of you and to discuss the many topics which we have in common.

Yours sincerely,
