

13th November 1933.

A.B. Watkins, Esq.,
School of Agriculture,
Cambridge.

Dear Watkins,

You are quite right to ask about "factor", as it has unfortunately been used in many senses. E.g. Sometimes its physical basis is taken to be the gene, sometimes the locus. I have tried to use it consistently in the latter sense, i.e. There may be many allelomorphs of a single factor and these will correspond to the different genes, which may occupy a single locus.

Yours sincerely,